Contract Expiration Now Set For 1964

The cost-plus-fixed-fee contract under which Union Carbide Corporation operates four major Atomic Energy Commission facilities in Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., has been extended four years to June 30, 1964. The present contract for the operation of these facilities was to expire on June 30, 1960.

Under the terms of the contract, Union Carbide Nuclear Company, a division of Union Carbide Corporation, operates the Y-12 plant, the Oak Ridge Gaseous Diffusion Plant and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory at Oak Ridge, and the gaseous diffusion plant at Pa-

Union Carbide contributed to the research and planning for the original gaseous diffusion plant at Oak Ridge and has operated it since January 1943. Union Carbide assumed operations of the Y-12 Plant at Oak Ridge in 1947 and operation of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory in 1948. In 1951, Union Carbide was selected as the operating contractor for the new gaseous diffusion plant at Pa-

Three UCNC Research Center Buildings Now Occupied

The first phase of construction on the Union Carbide Nuclear Company Research Center in Sterling Forest, near Tuxedo, N.Y., has been completed. Three of the five buildings now have been occupied.

Included in the first phase of construction are the main research laboratory, a power and utilities building and an ores and minerals development laboratory. Work on the remaining two buildings, the nuclear reactor building and its adjoining laboratory facilities, will start in a few weeks. Completion of the entire project is expected by the fall of 1960.

AEC Extends UCC Auto Financial Responsibility Law Is Tough On Violators

Forfeiture Of License And Registration Up To Five Years Provided In State Statute

Tennessee's new financial responsibility law for motor vehicle owners and operators, which became effective July 1, really makes it tough for persons involved in traffic accidents in which death, personal injuries and damages are incurred who are not adequately insured or under bond for protection of the victims. Lengthy forfeiture of driving license, loss of registration plates and certificates and impoundment of vehicles of own-ers found guilty of violation of the law regarding adequate protection are provided in the act.

Following are the principal provisions of the financial responsibility law as revised by the 1959 state assembly:

1. The minimum amount that can be posted for a cash bond is $500, regardless of amount of damages.

2. Requires a restoration fee of $25 for any person whose license has been suspended or revoked for

3. If license has been revoked or suspended for any reason, in addition to the $25 fee aforementioned, the licensee is required to maintain proof of financial responsibility for five years.

Must Surrender On Demand 4. The act makes it a misde-meanor to fail or refuse to sur-render revoked registration or license upon demand.

5. When a motor vehicle is in any manner involved in an accident which one or more persons suffer death or personal injury requiring hospitalization, the owner is required to impound his vehicle unless financial responsibility is established within 48 hours of the accident and he is required to notify the Commissioner of Public Safety, Nashville, of the place where it is impounded and forward his registration certificate and registration plates.

suspended on basis of a conviction all vehicles owned by said person shall be suspended unless proof of financial responsibility is maintained for five years thereafter.

7. When a person's license is suspended on the basis of a conviction and he is not the owner of the vehicle, the owner's license and registration will also be suspended unless he establishes and maintains financial responsibility for five consecutive years there-

J. L. Noey To Represent Ridge Group In Chicago

J. L. Noey, of the Y-12 Instrument Engineering Department, has been selected as principal delegate from the Oak Ridge Section of the Instrument Society of America to the annual meeting of the council of the ISA. The council is the governing body of the ISA and will meet in conjunction with the so-ciety's 14th Annual Instrument-Automation Conference and Exhibit in Chicago, September 21-25.

The appointment of the Y-12er has been announced by J. A. Russell, Jr., president of the ISA Oak Ridge Section. As an alternate delegate J. L. Horton, Oak Ridge National Laboratory instrument engineer was appointed by the president.

The ISA Conference this year will bring several thousand delegates of scientists and engineers from North America, Europe and the Far East for more than 50 technical sessions on virtually all aspects of progress in research and industrial instrumentation, in-cluding the use of computers for process control. In addition, about 350 organizations will exhibit the latest in equipment and demonstrate applications.

UCC Research Institute Building Will Be Ready For Use In 1960

Construction On Project Near Tarrytown, N. Y., To Start Soon On Same Site As Chemicals Lab

Construction will commence soon on the building to house the Union Carbide Research Institute, a special research activity of Union Carbide Corporation, it has been announced by Morse G. Dial, chairman of the board and chief® executive officer. The building will be located at Union Carbide's Westchester County 280-acre property at Eastview, near Tarrytown, N. Y. It will be completed and ready for occupancy the latter part of 1960. On the same site a technical corruin laboratory, which technical service laboratory, which will be used by Union Carbide Chemicals Company, is nearing completion.

Union Carbide Research Institute was formed in 1956 in order to complement and extend the scope of the basic research being carried on in the Corporation's research laboratories. Dr. Augustus B. Kinzel, vice-president—research for the Corporation, has stated that "a major purpose of the Research Institute is to contribute to the store of fundamental knowledge by studying the physical and chemical behavior of matter under ordinary as well as extreme condi-tions of pressure and temperature." Dr. Kinzel is well-known in the Y-12 Plant and Oak Ridge as a result of many facilities in the community. Programs already under way or in the planning stage include such areas of study as solid-state physics, the theory of metal bonds, and the structure of plastics. A substantial program of biochemical research is also included. A spe-cific example of the projects to be undertaken is one which the Institute is just now initiating that will emphasize theoretical and experimental studies on the funda-mental physical and chemical principles affecting high-temperature materials.

Building Of Latest Design
The Union Carbide Research
Institute building will be a single-story laboratory embodying the latest in design developed through Union Carbide's extensive experience in research. Its contemporary exterior appearance has been designed to complement the architecture of the technical service laboratory in the same setting. It will measure 344 feet long and 136 feet wide. The building will contain a p p r o x i m a tely 80,000 square feet of space and will include a complete technical library.

The Institute staff will occupy space in the new Union Carbide Nuclear Research Center in Sterling Forest near Tuxedo, N. Y., until the basic research laboratory is completed in Westchester.

W. H. Park Rudolph Payne

Promotion of two Y-12ers in the Mechanical Operations Division from the rank of experimental machinists to foremen became effective on August 1. They were William Homer Park, who was transferred from the General Machine Shop to the Sunflower Shop; and Rudolph Payne, who was promoted within the Sunflower Shop.

Park came to Y-12 on February 16, 1948. He was born in Diana, Tenn., in Giles County in the middle section of the state, on De-cember 30, 1914. He attended Theta High School at Carter's Creek and graduated from Charlotte, Tenn., High School in 1934. Before coming to Y-12 he had engaged in farming for himself, was a shipping clerk and machinist and just prior to being employed here was with the Vultee Aircraft Company in Nashville, where he was a machinist.

Payne was employed in Y-12 on December 4, 1951. He is a native of Pelham, Ala., in Shelby County. He graduated from Thompson High School at Siluria, Ala., and later took on-the-job training as a machinist at that school. He was a cotton mill machine operator after leaving school, then served in the United States Navy from 1942 to 1945, where he was a machinist. After leaving the Navy he returned to his mill job just before coming to Y-12. Park lives at 5628 Davida Drive, Fountain City. Payne resides at 401 Delaware Ave., Oak Ridge.
